—The seventh annual Chautauqua for Millersburg, opened Monday afternoon under the most favorable circumstances. The largest crowd was present ever seen on opening day. All of these Chautauquas have been put on here by the White-Myers System. The programs, which were good in the beginning, have grown better each year. The Chautauqua opened with the Bondiller Concert Company, in full concert, both afternoon and evening. Their music was good, which was made up both of vocal and instrumental. Tuesday afternoon we were entertained for an hour and a half in full concert with the Gypsy Serenaders, four young ladies. Their work was largely in song, interspersed with reading and piano numbers. In the evening the Gypsy Serenaders gave a recital of forty-five minutes, followed by Mr. Morris Gerson Hindus, Russian, in a lecture, "The World in Turnout." Mr. Hindus' lecture was good, and gave an inside view of the peasant life of Russia. Owing to the heavy rain, which fell during the lecture, many in the tent were not able to hear him. His compliment to President Wilson and his remarks on the necessity of the League of Nations, coupled with the peasant life of Europe was worth the price of admission. Wednesday afternoon we were entertained by the Cretion Glee Club, in a varied program calculated to please everyone.

FAMILY ESCAPES DEATH IN OVERTURNED AUTO

The family of George Kirkland, of near Lebanon, consisting of himself, wife and two children, had an almost miraculous escape from death or serious injury recently, when the car Mr. Kirkland was driving ran backward over a bluff fifteen or twenty feet high, turned completely over and landed on the top. The top of the machine, a heavy touring car, held the weight of the car off of the occupants until they could crawl from beneath it. The accident occurred on account of Mr. Kirkland mistaking the levers and while endeavoring to shift gears, got hold of the reverse lever and thus backed the car off the bluff.

COURT DECISION OF INTEREST TO TOBACCO BUYERS

A decision of more than ordinary interest to tobacco producers was made in the regular term of the Madison County Quarterly Court, when a decision was returned in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Bryant Newberry vs. Dave Smith. The action grew out of the agreement of Smith to buy a production of tobacco from Newberry at a stipulated price and subsequently failing to do so, alleging the product was of a quality below that represented when the contract was made. This necessitated Newberry taking his crop to a sales barn, where he effected its sale later on, and alleges that owing to the holding of the tobacco as a result of Smith failing to fulfill his part of the contract, he was forced to sell at a loss estimated at $150. The jury after a short deliberation held for the plaintiff and gave him judgment in the sum of $137.50. This is the first case of the kind to be heard in the Madison courts.

BEES RETURN TO HOME OF FORMER OWNER.

The remarkable instinct of animals and insects has been illustrated several times recently in this city by the attempted return of swarms of bees to their former home in the old Ficklin building, on Main street, which was razed some time ago to make way for a new structure.

During the life of W. T. Ficklin, who died some time ago, he was greatly interested in bee culture. In the attic of his home on Main street were a score or more hives of the busy little insects, which Mr. Ficklin could handle with apparently no fear of being stung. When the building was torn down the hives of bees were sold to different parties throughout the county. A few weeks ago one of the swarms in attempting to find their old home, entered the sleeping quarters of Jos. J. Greche, near by, from which they were dislodged only after many efforts. Another swarm recently took possession of a post near the Bramlette grocery. They were also removed. Yesterday still another swarm returned to the old building and remained there several hours, being dispersed by the heavy rain which set in early in the afternoon.

HARDING SAYS COX DESERVED NOMINATION

Senator Harding, the Republican Presidential nominee, in a statement said Governor Cox deserved the Democratic Presidential nomination, but added that his selection would not change the Republican campaign plans in Ohio in any way. "Governor Cox's nomination," Senator Harding said, "is an added consideration shown to our great State of Ohio for which I am glad, and gives reasonable assurance that finally a newspaper man is to be made the Nation's chief executive. Ohio has accorded Gov. Cox very unusual distinction, and he deserves his victory at San Francisco. His nomination will not change our activities in any way in Ohio. It is a great party contest before us, to be fought on great principles involved, and neither place of residence nor personality will have any marked influence on the result."

LOST A CUSTOMER

This is the true story of how a prominent Paris furniture dealer lost a customer, as told THE NEWS man.

A few days ago during an unusually busy day, one of the clerks was approached by a pair of Paris newly-weds, who were on their first shopping tour. They asked to be shown various articles of home furnishings, and made a number of purchases. Among them was a very handsome brass bed. The groom put the question in a stage whisper to the clerk: "Is this a good strong bed?" "Yes, sir," responded the clerk, anxious to clinch the purchase. "We stand behind every bed we sell." There was a hasty conference between the newly-weds, and a look of dismay overspread the face of the bride, as she blushingly whispered to her hubby: "Oh, my dear, we don't want to buy a bed here!" But the obliging clerk hastily explained what he meant, the atmosphere was cleared up, and the brass bed was added to the sum total of the purchases.

MARSE HENRI WATTERSON CONGRATULATES GOV. COX.

Colonel Henry Watterson emerged from his silence of the past few months with a characteristic statement concerning the nomination of James M. Cox by the Democratic convention. Speaking over the telephone from his country home at Jeffersonton, Ky., he said in substance that the nomination of Governor Cox will solidify the Democratic party in every section of the union. Mr. Watterson declared the selection of Cox was the best move possible and gives the Democrats a buoyant presage of victory, adding the following:

"Your nomination revitalizes Democracy. It will stir the Democratic heart of the nation with reflection of a triumphant past and the forecast of the radiant future. The genius of destiny lays loving hands upon the Buckeye boy, and with laughing eyes exclaimed: 'Faithful thou over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many.'"
